OGCSA LEGACY Scholarship Application Essay

Joseph Beyer

Who has been the most influential person in your life? Why?

The most influential person in my life is my father, and it is impossible to capture the fullness of how he has impacted every aspect of my life in a short essay. To make it simple, I will reflect on my father's influence through three roles: my father as a dad, boss, and spiritual leader. From my earliest memories, my father has shown me the importance of giving one hundred percent effort in everything I do, trusting in God, and never giving up—qualities that have shaped my journey as a student, athlete, and person.

As my dad, he has taught me the importance of love, family, and togetherness. He has always emphasized that no matter what happens in life, family and God come first. Recently, my father was offered a job that would have significantly increased his salary. However, taking it would have required us to move, uprooting my siblings and me from our schools and our home. Instead of chasing financial gain, he chose to stay, proving that success is not measured in money but in the strength of relationships. Through this decision, he reinforced the values he has always instilled in me: that life is about more than personal achievement—it is about loyalty, responsibility, and prioritizing what truly matters.

As my boss, my father has demonstrated an unrelenting work ethic, always leading by example. He never asks more from his employees than he is willing to give himself, and his dedication is shown in the long hours and meticulous detail he puts into every task. Working under him, I have learned that true leadership is not about authority but about serving others and inspiring action through hard work. His influence has shaped my own work ethic, motivating me to take on leadership positions such as DECA President and student council representative for my school. He has shown me that to be a leader, I must not only work hard but also care about the people I serve.

As my spiritual leader, my father has guided me in my Catholic faith, teaching me the importance of trusting in God. Through his example, I have learned that faith is not just about attending Mass but about how we live our lives, treat other people, and find strength in difficult times. His unwavering belief in God has given me a strong foundation, reminding me that no matter how uncertain life may seem, I am never alone. This faith has helped me navigate challenges with a sense of peace and confidence.

My father's influence is woven into every aspect of my life. Whether through his love as a dad, his guidance as a boss, or his wisdom as a spiritual leader, he has shaped me into the person I am today. His lessons will continue to guide me as I pursue my dream of working in the golf industry, knowing that the values he has instilled in me—hard work, love, faith, and perseverance—will carry me forward in whatever path I take.
